Is the oil for your lantern running low? Are you burning brightly or burning out? Need to lift up your spiritual, emotional and physical well being? Are you having trouble with balancing life's competing interests? Overwhelmed by family obligations, finances, health, family, work or community issues?

Hearts2HomeSchool is a faith based, Christian women's home education organization seeking to assist home educating families throughout Florida, in their home schooling journey.

Our conference will encourage women of all ages from varied walks and stages in their home education program, to seek balance in their life through a faith based approach.

We want to partner with you on your home schooling journey; Please join us on February 25-26, 2011 to help Christian home educating women experience a conference filled with information, inspiration and fellowship. Local, regional and national speakers will uplift and encourage you to stay the course, re-fill your oil lantern and "shine" brightly in the coming New Year! Enjoy fellowship and inspiration while surrounded by women who share similar goals and lifestyle.
